NEWPORT,

A beautiful and flourishing post city of Campbell county, situated on the Ohio River, opposite Cincinnati, at the mouth of the Licking River, which separates it from Covington, about 70 miles north north-east from Frankfort.

It is situated on an elevated plain commanding a fine view of Cincinnati, with which city there is a steam ferry connection, and it owes its rapid growth and importance chiefly to its proximity to that city and the beauty of its situation.

Newport and the villages of Jamestown and Brooklyn occupying about 2,000 acres, are rapidly becoming united as one town and contain many elegant mansions and cottages of wealthy and retired citizens. Newport contains several churches, extensive polling mills, iron foundries, steam mills, and other manufacturing establishments.

At this place is a Garrison of the United States. Present number of recruits about 230.

J. Q. A. Foster, Postmaster.
