42. Total Acreage in Present Property: 227 43. Acreage included in proposed N.R. boundary: 36

44. Site Plan (and boundary description and justification for N.R. sites):

The boundary, shown by the points A, B, C and D, include the house and outbuilding and sufficient acreage along the approach lane and Terrill's Branch to provide both a setting and appropriate approach. The lane to the house is an old road formerly connecting to Petersburg Road to the north; it has lost integrity further north than the house. Terrill's Branch is included in the boundary due to its historical links to the old road. Boundary A-B is near the crest of the east bank of the creek.

The boundary of the nominated property is delineated by the polygon whose vertices are marked by the following UTM reference points: A 16 685040 4323480; B 16 684900 4322670; C 16 684740 4322750; D 16 684850 4323520.

- Contributing: 1 building & 1 site (icehouse foundation)
- Noncontributing: 1 structure (20th c. open shed of unknown use)

45. Description and House Plan:

The form of the house is a common one locally during the Greek Revival period: five-bay facade, two-story main block with a one-story ell, central passage plan. The 6/6 sash windows are topped with stone lintels, the end chimneys are located in the interior of the main gable ends, and there is an original, simple porch on square posts in the angle of the ell extending the length of the north side of the ell. The large front door unit with transom and sidelights was finished with a crosette architrave surround. Two pilasters remain of the hipped-roof front porch, shown in historical photographs, which had paired, square posts without bases at the front corners.

The stone foundation of an icehouse remains to the southwest of the house. Contemporary with the house, the remains of this outbuilding contribute to the significance of the property by illustrating the importance of domestic outbuildings in the period.
